

How do you manage expectations when goal setting?

- Be cautious of promises that claim you can build a business “quickly.”
- While rapid success can happen, it’s the exception, not the rule.
- Most businesses take 2–3 times longer to build than originally planned.
- The financial, time, and energy investment is usually higher than expected.
- Setting realistic expectations leads to better decision-making and long-term outcomes.

